1. Introduction

Outcome-Based Education (OBE) is an educational framework centered on achieving specific, measurable outcomes or competencies upon the completion of a learning process. This approach uses a variety of methods to strengthen students' abilities, emphasizing their holistic development by enhancing their skills, knowledge, and competencies.

2. OBE Committee

The Outcome-Based Education (OBE) Committee plays a crucial role in the Curriculum Management Process at RCMAS. The committee comprises Director, Principal, IQAC, College Council and nine faculty members from various departments. The OBE Committee oversees the Programs learning process and outcomes. To assess the achievement of learning objectives, the committee utilizes Direct and Indirect Assessment. Direct Assessment includes Continuous Internal Assessment (Internal Assessment Tests, assignments/seminar). Indirect Assessment includes graduate exit survey. Each year, the OBE Committee re-evaluates and updates the assessment rubrics based on the outcomes of student to ensure continuous improvement and alignment with educational goals.

3. Process of Outcome Based Education (OBE)

Outcome-Based Education (OBE) ensures meaningful student learning by following a structured process. It begins with defining clear, measurable learning outcomes aligned with stakeholder needs. The curriculum is designed to map these outcomes to specific courses and integrated assessments, while instructional strategies cater to diverse learning styles and employ technology for enhanced engagement. Both direct (e.g., internal assessments and exams) and indirect (e.g., exit surveys) assessments are used, supported by rubrics and constructive feedback. Continuous improvement is driven by analyzing assessment data and regularly reviewing and refining the teaching methods, and outcomes. Stakeholder engagement, documentation, and regular program evaluations ensure the program remains relevant, effective, and aligned with real-world needs.

3.1. The Process of Implementing OBE in RCMAS

The institution has framed well-defined Vision and Mission. Each department has formulated its own vision and mission in correlation with the Vision and Mission of the college that have been approved by the Governing Body of the institution.

• The IQAC has organized seminars, in-depth discussions on OBE and Bloom's Taxonomy. The primary objective of these initiatives is to empower all faculty members capable of designing Programme Specific Outcomes (PSOs), Programme Outcomes (POs), and Course Outcomes (COs) aligned with the respective programmes and courses.

• The College Council has established a committee of experts to develop POs, aligned with the institution's Vision and Mission.

• The faculty members of each Department collaborated with subject experts to create and refine the PSOs and COs. COs were defined based on the Bloom's Taxonomy, in alignment with the curriculum of the MG University. These outcomes are then reviewed by OBE committee and approved by the IQAC, ensuring alignment with the curriculum.

• CO mapping process is done by faculty members by systematic alignment of Course Outcomes (CO) with Programme Outcomes (PO) and Programme Specific Outcomes (PSO). This process ensures that the specific learning outcomes of a course contribute directly to the broader educational goals of the program. CO mapping is essential for demonstrating how individual courses within a curriculum support the overall competencies and skills that students are expected to acquire by the time they graduate.

• Programme Outcomes (POs) and Program Specific Outcomes (PSOs) are evaluated for their attainment by a combination of Direct and Indirect approaches.

3.1.3. Course Outcome (CO)

Course Outcome (CO) are specific, measurable statements that describe what a student is expected to know, understand, or be able to do by the end of a particular course. These outcomes are closely tied to the learning objectives of the course and are designed to align with the broader Programme Outcomes (POs) and Programme Specific Outcomes (PSOs) of the academic program.

Course Outcomes (COs) are generally created based on the course's learning objectives, which are in line with the program's overall learning outcomes. COs are crucial as they clarify the specific knowledge, skills, and abilities that students are expected to acquire by the end of the course. They serve as a framework for instructors when designing course content, assessments, and teaching methods, while also helping students understand what is expected of them. COs are usually evaluated through various assessment methods, such as internal exams, quizzes, assignments, seminars, projects, and other tasks. The data collected from these assessments is then utilized to assess the course's effectiveness and to implement necessary improvements. In general, Course Outcomes (COs) play a crucial role in equipping students with the essential knowledge, skills, and competencies required for success in their selected academic programs or fields. COs are defined according to Bloom's Taxonomy. Course outcomes and Bloom's Taxonomy are interconnected, as Bloom's Taxonomy offers a system for organizing and classifying various levels of cognitive learning. In contrast, course outcomes outline the specific learning goals that students are expected to reach in a given course. Bloom's Taxonomy can be utilized to align and organize these course outcomes based on their cognitive complexity.

Bloom's Taxonomy

Bloom's Taxonomy categorizes cognitive learning into six levels, starting from lowerorder thinking skills to higher-order thinking skills:

- 1. Remembering: The ability to recall or recognize information.
- 2. Understanding: The ability to comprehend and interpret information.
- 3. Applying: The ability to use acquired knowledge in new or specific situations.
- 4. Analyzing: The ability to break down information into its component parts and understand their relationship.
- 5. Evaluating: The ability to make judgments and assessments based on criteria and evidence.
- 6. Creating: The ability to generate new ideas or products by combining existing knowledge and skills.

When defining course outcomes, instructors can align them with the appropriate level(s) of Bloom's Taxonomy to specify the cognitive demands and complexity expected of students. Each course outcome can be designed to target a specific level or a combination of levels within Bloom's Taxonomy.

4. Curriculum Mapping

Curriculum mapping with program-specific outcomes involves a systematic approach to align courses with the goals of the programs. This process not only enhances coherence across courses but also facilitates continuous improvement and adaptation of the curriculum to meet evolving educational needs. Through effective mapping, educators can identify areas for reinforcement, integration, and interdisciplinary connections, thereby fostering a robust learning environment where students can achieve comprehensive mastery of the program's intended competencies and skills.

5. Benchmarks and Criteria for Attainment of Learning Outcomes

Benchmarks determine the criteria of success or a performance standard for a PO/PSO. An acceptable, internal performance benchmark is established to determine student performance. Benchmark is predetermined and it is monitored by the OBE committee. At RCMAS, the attainment levels are defined based on the benchmark between 1 -5 as follows:

| Level | Attainment Criteria | Bench Mark |
|-------|---------------------|-------------|
| 3 | Exceeds Expectation | 4.00 -5.00 |
| 2 | Meet Expectation | 2.00 - 3.99 |
| 1 | Below Expectation | 0 - 1.99 |

Mapping Course Outcomes (COs) to Program Outcomes (POs) and Program Specific Outcomes (PSOs) at RCMAS involves defining specific, measurable COs aligned with Bloom's Taxonomy and broader program goals. A CO-PO/PSO mapping matrix is developed to establish the relationship between these outcomes. Direct assessment methods, such as exams and assignments, along with indirect methods like surveys, are used to evaluate PO/PSO attainment. Attainment levels are calculated, and results are analyzed for continuous improvement. Documentation and regular reporting ensure alignment with program objectives and support ongoing curriculum enhancement.

The attainment levels used in RCMAS are:

- Attainment Level 3: If at least 80% of the students falls in the category of either "meets expectation" or "exceeds expectation".
- Attainment Level 2: If 60-80% of the students falls in the category of either "meets expectation" or "exceeds expectation".
- Attainment Level 1: If less than 60% of the students falls in the category of either "meets expectation" or "exceeds expectation".

Using Google Sheets, Microsoft Excel and MCampus software the mapping of Programme Outcomes (POs), Programme Specific Outcomes (PSOs), and Course Outcomes (COs) are done. Every course has its own set of defined Course Outcomes that are connected to the appropriate POs and PSOs. Carefully considered, the internal examination questions are formatted and vetted so as to match the CO's and Bloom's Taxonomy. Pupil grades were meticulously documented in the software.

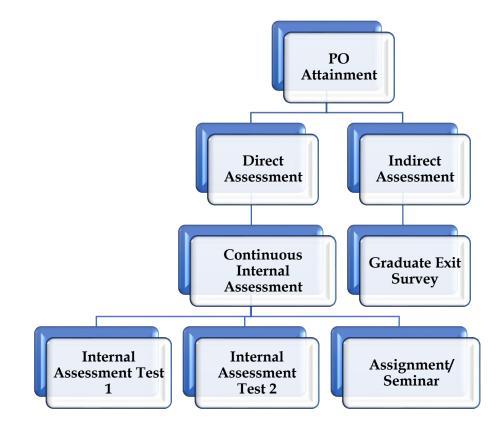

Furthermore, through rigorous mapping, assignments, tests, seminars, and other activities are carefully created to correspond with the desired learning outcomes

5.1. PO Attainment

Program Specific Outcomes (PSOs) and Programme Outcomes (POs) are evaluated for their attainment through a combination of direct and indirect approaches, such as an exit survey. The direct technique receives 80% of the weight in the assessment process, whereas the indirect method receives 20% of the weight.

Student learning can be measured using several methods. The methods are commonly grouped into two categories: Direct and Indirect measures. The OBE system places a greater emphasis on Direct measures of learning. Indirect measures are used to augment direct measurement, or where it is impossible to measure the learning objective directly.

6. Identification of Assessment Measures

6.1. Direct Measures

| Components | Process | Analysis |
|--|--|--|
| Internal Assessment Tests 1 and 2 | Develop internal assessment tests that include questions directly linked to Course Outcomes (COs). These questions should assess the specific skills and knowledge outlined in the COs. Each question is mapped to corresponding COs to ensure alignment. | Evaluate student responses to questions to gauge how well they meet the COs. Use statistical methods to aggregate and analyze results to determine overall performance and identify areas for improvement. |
| Assignments | Develop detailed rubrics for different types of assessments (assignments, projects, presentations). Rubrics should include criteria such as understanding of content, analytical skills, creativity, and presentation quality. Ensure rubrics align with COs and Bloom's Taxonomy levels. | Collect and review graded assessments using the rubrics to determine student attainment of COs. Aggregate results to assess overall performance and alignment with POs and PSOs. |

6.2. Indirect Measures

Assessments that measure learning outcomes through tools and methods that capture students' perceptions, reflections, or self-assessments rather than directly measuring their knowledge, skills, or performance. These methods provide insights into how well students believe they have achieved the learning outcomes and how the educational process has impacted them. Indirect assessment of learning outcomes is conducted through graduate exit survey. By collecting this indirect feedback, institutions can gain a broader understanding of the impact and outcomes of their educational programs, enabling them to make informed decisions for continuous improvement.

6.2.1. Graduate Exit Survey

An exit survey plays a crucial role in the Outcome-Based Education (OBE) process by providing valuable feedback from graduating students about their educational experience. It assesses how well the program has met its intended outcomes by gathering insights on various aspects such as course content, teaching effectiveness, skill development, and overall satisfaction. The data collected through exit surveys helps in identifying strengths and areas for improvement within the program, allowing educators to make informed decisions for future curriculum enhancements. Ultimately, exit surveys contribute to the continuous improvement of the educational process, ensuring that the program remains aligned with its goals and effectively prepares students for their careers.

6.3 CO - PO Attainment Calculation

To calculate the attainment of Programme Outcomes (POs) and Programme Specific Outcomes (PSOs) using the described method, you can follow these steps:

ILIATED TO MAHATMA GANDHI UNIVERSITY, KOTTAYAM , APPROVED BY AICTE

- Conduct Direct Assessment - 80 Weightage:
 - Evaluate students through Continuous Internal Assessment (CIA) -0 Internal assessment tests 1 and 2 and assignments/seminars.
 - Calculate the average CO score for each course. 0
 - Map CO scores to POs/PSOs. 0
- Conduct Indirect Assessment 20 Weightage:
 - Collect and analyze student feedback through exit surveys. 0
 - Convert feedback to quantitative scores for each PO 0
 - Multiply the average PO score by the indirect assessment weightage (0.2). 0

• Calculate Final Attainment Score for POs/PSOs:

- Combine Direct and Indirect Assessment Scores using the formula: 0 Final PO/PSO Attainment Score = (Direct Assessment Score $\times 0.8$) + (Indirect Assessment Score \times 0.2)
- Compare final attainment scores with benchmarks to evaluate the 0 attainment of POs/PSOs.
