Rajagiri College of Management and Applied Sciences organized an AIDS awareness programme on 2nd April 2022 aimed at educating the public about HIV/AIDS and supporting those affected by the disease. The event also featured the handing over of a check worth Rs. 25,000 to Fr. Giles of Assisi Snehalaya, a support and care center for HIV/AIDS patients. The primary objective of this programme was to spread awareness about the prevention and management of HIV/AIDS, reduce the stigma associated with the condition, and provide financial assistance to organizations dedicated to helping those affected.

The event began with an informative session led by Fr. Giles of Assisi Snehalaya. He shared valuable insights on the importance of early detection, treatment options, and ways to prevent the spread of the virus. Following the awareness session, Ms. Annu

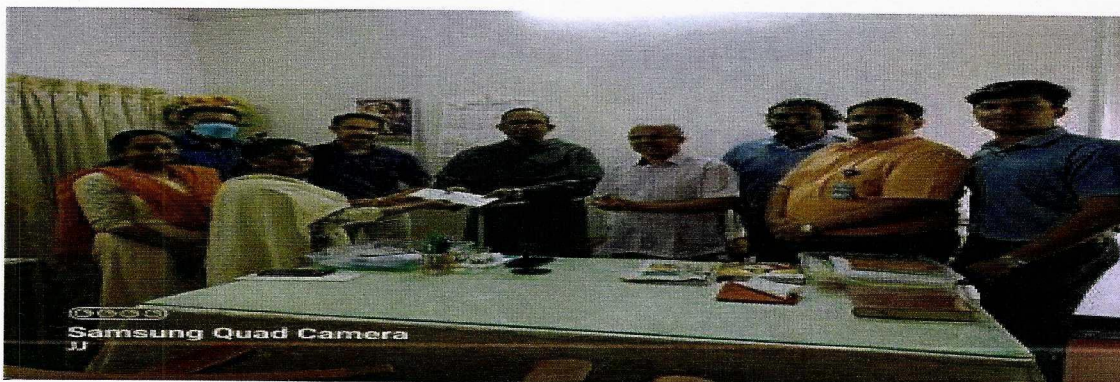

Legat

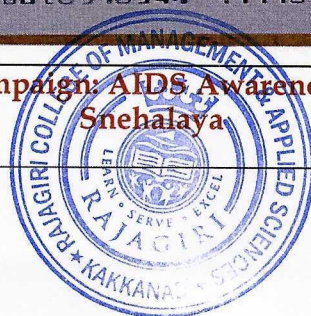

James along with representatives from Rajagiri Sparsh presented the Rs. 25,000 check to Fr. Giles. The programme also included interactive activities, such as Q&A sessions and group discussions, to engage the audience and address their concerns regarding HIV/AIDS. The event saw active participation from students, faculty, and members of the Rajagiri sparsh, all of whom were eager to contribute to the cause.

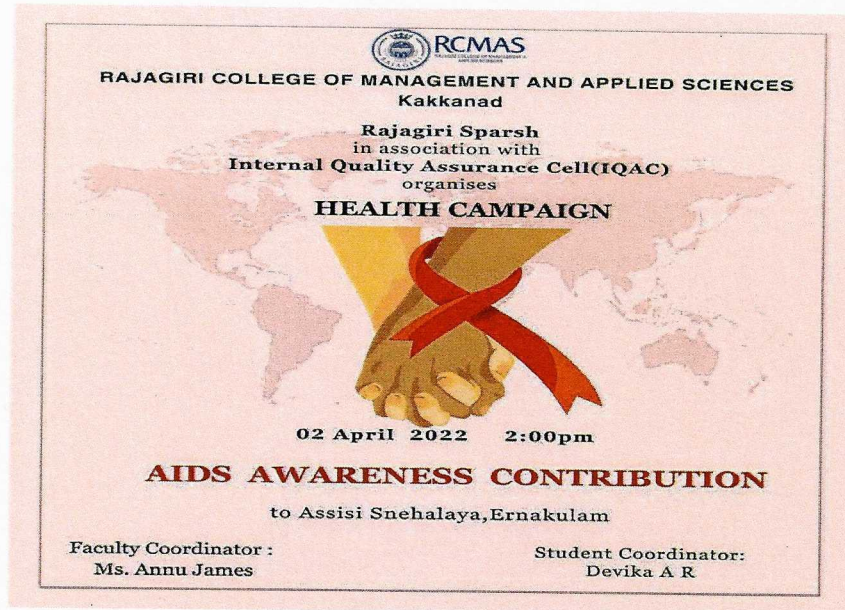

The outcome of the programme was overwhelmingly positive. Participants left with a deeper understanding of HIV/AIDS and a renewed commitment to supporting those affected by the disease. Fr. Giles expressed his gratitude for the generous donation, emphasizing how it would aid Assisi Snehalaya in providing better care and support to their residents. Feedback from attendees highlighted the programme's effectiveness in dispelling myths and fostering a compassionate attitude towards individuals living with HIV/AIDS. Rajagiri College's initiative was lauded as a significant step towards creating a more informed and empathetic society.

On March 25, 2022, the Commerce department, in collaboration with the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), embarked on a significant community initiative titled "Playground Development: Equipment for Children's Park at St. Ignatious Layola Lower Primary School." This program was driven by a commitment to enhance recreational facilities for children, promoting physical activity and play through the donation of playground equipment.

The venue, St. Ignatious Layola Lower Primary School, provided the perfect setting for the installation of new playground equipment, catering directly to the needs of the young students who attend the school. Ms. Anupa Stanly, serving as the Faculty Coordinator, played a pivotal role in spearheading the initiative. Her dedication to fostering holistic development among children and improving community resources was instrumental in the program's success. Supported by Student Coordinator Neha

Ann Iype, who actively facilitated logistics and coordination, the team ensured that the project was executed seamlessly.

A total of 35 participants, including faculty members and students, enthusiastically contributed their time and effort to the program. Their collective involvement underscored a shared commitment to improving the quality of life and recreational opportunities for children within the community. The primary objective of the program was to enrich the school's outdoor environment by providing children with safe and engaging playground equipment. The donated equipment, carefully selected for its durability and suitability for various age groups, included swings, slides, jungle gyms, and interactive play structures. These additions were designed not only to encourage physical activity but also to stimulate creativity, social interaction, and cognitive development among the students.

The installation of the playground equipment was marked by a ceremonial event that brought together school staff, students, volunteers, and community members. The atmosphere was filled with excitement and anticipation as children eagerly explored the new play area, discovering the joys of outdoor play and active recreation. Volunteers actively engaged with the children, demonstrating how to use the equipment safely and encouraging them to enjoy their newfound playground.

Beyond the immediate benefits of enhanced physical activity, the program aimed to foster a sense of pride and ownership among the school community. Teachers and parents alike expressed gratitude for the initiative, recognizing its positive impact on the students' overall well-being and academic engagement. The new playground not only provided a space for fun and recreation but also became a symbol of community support and collaboration.

Furthermore, the program exemplified the Commerce department's commitment to social responsibility and holistic education. By investing in children's recreational facilities, the initiative aimed to nurture well-rounded individuals capable of thriving both academically and socially. It underscored the importance of creating inclusive environments that promote physical health, mental well-being, and positive social interactions among youth. Feedback from teachers, parents, and students following the installation was overwhelmingly positive, with many noting the immediate benefits of having accessible and safe playground equipment. Children were observed to be more active and engaged during breaks, fostering a healthier and happier school environment.

In conclusion, the "Playground Development: Equipment for Children's Park at St. Ignatious Layola Lower Primary School" program exemplified the transformative power of community-driven initiatives in enhancing educational environments and promoting children's well-being. By providing essential recreational resources, the Commerce department and IQAC not only improved physical infrastructure but also nurtured a supportive and vibrant school community. Such initiatives serve as catalysts for positive change, fostering a sense of unity and pride while enriching the educational experience for young learners.

On July 15, 2021, Rajagiri College of Management and Applied Sciences, in collaboration with IQAC, organized a program titled Upkaar "Communication Access: Mobile Phone Donation for School Students" at the college portico. The primary objective of this initiative was to support students from various government schools in Ernakulam District by providing them with mobile phones, ensuring they could attend online classes during the COVID-19 pandemic. The program aimed to enhance communication and access to online learning for students, promoting digital inclusion and ensuring continuity in their education. Ms. Anupa Stanly coordinated the event, with Ms. Diya Akhbar serving as the student coordinator. The Ward Councillor M. O Varghese Handed over the Mobile phones

The proceedings of the program included the formal handover of mobile phones worth Rs. One lakh seventy thousand to deserving students. The event began with an inaugural speech by the faculty coordinators, emphasizing the importance of digital access in today's educational landscape. The distribution of the mobile phones was carried out in an organized manner, ensuring that each student received a device suitable for their online learning needs. The student coordinator, Ms. Diya Akhbar, managed the logistics and ensured that the event proceeded smoothly. This program was a testament to the college's commitment to supporting education during challenging times, particularly during the pandemic when online learning became the primary mode of education.

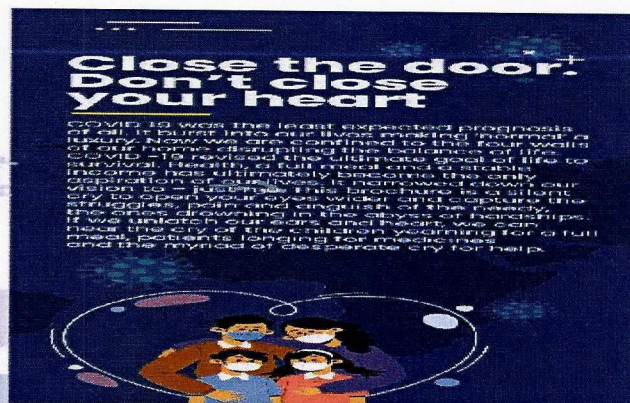

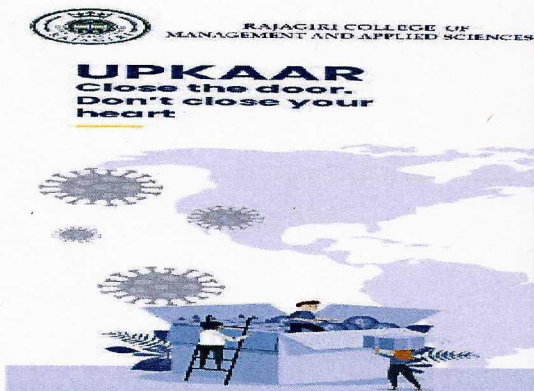

The outcome of the program was highly positive, with students expressing their gratitude for the support. The mobile phones provided to them significantly enhanced their ability to participate in online classes, thus supporting their education during the pandemic. This initiative by Rajagiri Sparsh, in association with IQAC, played a crucial role in promoting digital inclusion and ensuring that learning continued despite the disruptions caused by COVID-19. The feedback from participants and stakeholders highlighted the program's success in addressing the digital divide and supporting students' educational needs during these unprecedented times. UPKAAR - close the door, Don't close your heart a winsome success. We were able to collect Rs 170,000 (1 lakh and seventy thousand) from the students of our college. This day marked the impart of a necessity wrapped in love and togetherness for the ones in need. Twenty Children who were undergoing severe distress due to lack of electronic gadget for educational support were gifted electronic devices.
