The Department of Computer Science at Rajagiri College of Management and Applied Sciences, under the leadership of IQAC Coordinator Joby Jacob, Head of department Sijo Jacob, NSS Program Officer Dr.Chandralal V S and Karuthal Coordinator Annu James , conducted a CSR initiative on February 3, 2024, to enhance the welfare of the Thallumkandam community in Edamalayar. This report provides an overview of our activities, and the impact achieved.

24 students 9 faculty members participated in this activity. Our journey began from the college at 7:30 AM, and we reached Thallumkandam at 11:15 AM. Upon arrival, we organized into groups to address various aspects of the cleaning and painting tasks. The first group focused on cleaning the front section of the community hall. The second group cleaned the terrace. The third group prepared the walls for painting by sanding them down. After two and a half hours of dedicated work, we paused for lunch, enjoying Kappa and Chamanthi, a local delicacy. Following the meal, we proceeded to paint the interior of the hall to enhance its appearance and create a more inviting space for the community. Despite our best efforts, time constraints prevented us from completing the exterior painting of the hall.

Our collective efforts significantly improved the cleanliness and aesthetics of the Thalumkandam community hall and its surroundings. The freshly cleaned and painted interior provided a more pleasant environment for community members to gather and engage in various activities. Moreover, our participation in this CSR initiative fostered a sense of responsibility and solidarity among the students and faculty members, strengthening our bond with the local community.

The main challenge we faced was the limited time available to complete all planned activities. So we planned to complete the remaining work another day.

On January 20, 2024, the Commerce department, in collaboration with the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) and NSS Unit No.236, organized a crucial initiative titled "Child Safety Advocacy: Digital Literacy and Sexual Harassment Awareness." The program was specifically tailored for children of migrant workers from Kalamassery, aiming to educate them on digital literacy and personal safety, empowering them to protect themselves and make informed decisions. The venue for this impactful session was the College Auditorium, providing a conducive environment for interactive learning and discussion. The program saw active participation from 35 children, highlighting their eagerness to learn and engage with topics related to digital literacy and personal safety. Joseph Thomas, the dedicated Student Coordinator, alongside volunteers from NSS Unit No.236, worked tirelessly to facilitate the session's logistics and ensure a smooth flow of activities. The primary objective of the program was twofold: first, to impart essential knowledge about digital literacy, including safe internet practices, cyberbullying awareness, and the responsible use of social media platforms. Second, to raise awareness about sexual harassment, educating children on recognizing inappropriate behavior, understanding boundaries, and seeking help when needed. These topics were approached through age-appropriate discussions, interactive games, and engaging multimedia presentations. Throughout the session, emphasis was placed on empowering the children to take proactive steps in safeguarding their personal information online and offline. Practical tips and scenarios were discussed to enhance their critical thinking skills and decision-making abilities in various situations.

Moreover, the program fostered a safe and supportive environment where children felt comfortable expressing their thoughts and concerns. Open dialogue sessions allowed them to ask questions, share experiences, and learn from each other's perspectives. This participatory approach not only enriched their understanding but also encouraged peer support and collaboration. Beyond knowledge dissemination, the session aimed to instill confidence and resilience in the children, equipping them with life skills that are essential for their holistic development. By promoting awareness and empowerment, the program sought to create a ripple effect within the migrant worker community, encouraging positive attitudes towards child safety and well-being.

Feedback from participants and caregivers indicated a positive impact, with children expressing newfound awareness and readiness to apply the knowledge gained in their daily lives. In conclusion, the "Child Safety Advocacy: Digital Literacy and Sexual Harassment Awareness" program was a significant milestone in promoting child welfare and empowerment among migrant worker families from Kalamassery. It exemplified the Commerce department's dedication to social responsibility and educational excellence, leveraging collaboration with IQAC and NSS to make a meaningful difference in the lives of vulnerable children. By equipping them with essential knowledge and skills, the program not only aimed to protect their rights but also to nurture a generation of informed and resilient individuals capable of shaping a safer and more inclusive society.

WISHES

It is with great pleasure and honor that I extend my warmest congratulations to everyone involved in the successful organization of the KIRANAM event. This initiative, aimed at uplifting the children of migrant workers, is a commendable endeavor that reflects the spirit of compassion, empathy, and community support.

I extend my heartfelt congratulations to Rajagiri College of Management and Applied Sciences (RCMAS), Commerce Department, and NSS unit for conceptualizing and executing this noble project as part of their Corporate Social Responsibility study. Your dedication and commitment to making a positive difference in the lives of those less fortunate exemplify the true essence of social responsibility and civic engagement.

The KIRANAM event not only provides essential support and assistance to the children of migrant workers but also serves as a platform for fostering inclusivity, empowerment, and equal opportunities for all members of society. By investing in the education, well-being, and future prospects of these children, you are paving the way for a brighter and more equitable future for our communities.

By addressing these topics proactively in education, we can create safer, more inclusive learning environments and empower students to become responsible digital citizens and advocates for change.

Let us reaffirm our commitment to continue supporting initiatives that promote social justice, equality, and human dignity. Together, we can create a more inclusive and compassionate society where every individual has the opportunity to thrive and succeed.

I commend each and every one of you for your tireless efforts and dedication towards making a positive impact in the lives of others. Your contributions truly make a difference and serve as an inspiration to us all. I wish you continued success in all your future endeavors aimed at serving the community and uplifting those in need.

On January 18, 2024, the Department of Commerce at Rajagiri College of Management and Applied Sciences, in association with the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC), organized a heartwarming outreach program titled "Harmony Plates: Serving Hearts - A Culinary Outreach." This benevolent initiative aimed to distribute food packets to the patients of Government Ayurveda Medical College, Puthiyakavu. With a dedicated team of 25 participants, the program exemplified the spirit of compassion and community service.

The event was meticulously coordinated by Ms. Amrutha Antony, Assistant Professor in the Department of Commerce. Under her guidance, the students of B.Com Model 2 Finance and Taxation Semester 3, Mr. Rohan Eapan and Mr. Sharath SK, played pivotal roles as student coordinators. Their leadership ensured seamless organization and execution, fostering a sense of responsibility and empathy among the participants.

The planning phase involved detailed logistical arrangements, including the procurement of ingredients, preparation of food packets, and coordination with the hospital authorities. The participants, a mix of enthusiastic students and faculty, collaborated to prepare nutritious and hygienic meals. The food packets included a balanced diet with rice, vegetables, and protein-rich items, ensuring the nutritional needs of the patients were met.

On the day of the event, the team gathered early in the morning at the college premises to commence the cooking process. The atmosphere was filled with enthusiasm and camaraderie as everyone contributed to preparing the meals. By noon, the food packets were ready, and the team proceeded to the Government Ayurveda Medical College, Puthiyakavu.

Upon arrival, the team was warmly welcomed by the hospital staff. The distribution process was organized systematically, with participants divided into groups to cover different wards. Each patient received a food packet along with a kind word and a smile, creating an atmosphere of warmth and care. The patients, many of whom were undergoing long-term treatments, expressed immense gratitude for the gesture. The sight of their smiles and the words of appreciation were profoundly rewarding for the participants.

The Harmony Plates initiative had a significant impact on both the patients and the participants. For the patients, it was a reminder that they were not alone in their journey towards recovery. The nutritious meals provided a respite from their usual hospital diet, bringing a sense of normalcy and joy. For the participants, it was a humbling experience that highlighted the importance of community service and empathy. It reinforced the values of compassion and altruism, integral to holistic education.

Ms. Amrutha Antony reflected on the event, stating, "The Harmony Plates initiative was not just about distributing food; it was about spreading love and hope. Our students learned valuable life lessons about empathy and community engagement, which are crucial for their personal and professional growth."

Mr. Rohan Eapan and Mr. Sharath SK echoed similar sentiments, emphasizing the transformative experience of connecting with the patients and understanding their struggles. They expressed their gratitude for the opportunity to lead such a meaningful initiative and looked forward to organizing more such events in the future.

On December 5, 2023, the Commerce department, in collaboration with NSS (National Service Scheme) and IQAC (Internal Quality Assurance Cell), initiated a significant educational program titled "Enhancing Financial Skills: Internet Banking Class for Kudumbasree Members." This program was specifically designed to enhance financial literacy and digital banking skills among members of Kudumbasree, empowering them with essential knowledge to manage their finances effectively in the digital age.

Under the guidance of Faculty Coordinator Jesmi Jacob and Student Coordinator Aswin S, the initiative gathered 34 participants, including Kudumbasree members, faculty members, students, and dedicated volunteers. The venue chosen for this impactful program was the Cochin Municipal Corporation, division no.42 in Vennala, ensuring accessibility and convenience for community members.

The primary objective of the program was to bridge the digital divide by providing hands-on training in internet banking and digital financial transactions. Participants received comprehensive instruction on various aspects of internet banking, including account management, online payments, fund transfers, and security measures. The training sessions were tailored to cater to participants' varying levels of familiarity with digital technologies, ensuring that everyone could benefit from the learning experience. Beyond technical skills, the program emphasized the importance of financial literacy and responsible banking practices. Participants engaged in interactive sessions that covered topics such as budgeting, savings strategies, understanding financial statements, and accessing financial services online. These discussions aimed to empower individuals with the knowledge and confidence to make informed financial decisions and navigate the complexities of modern banking systems. The collaboration between Commerce, NSS, and IQAC exemplified the synergy between academic institutions and community service in promoting social empowerment through education. By leveraging their combined expertise and resources, the organizers created a supportive learning environment that encouraged active participation and meaningful learning outcomes.

The outcomes of the Internet Banking Class were transformative and empowering. Participants reported improved confidence in using internet banking services, which expanded their access to financial resources and streamlined their banking activities. By gaining proficiency in digital banking, Kudumbasree members were better equipped to manage their finances efficiently, save time, and access financial services conveniently from their homes or workplaces.

Moreover, the program fostered a sense of empowerment and self-reliance among participants, enabling them to take control of their financial futures. It promoted economic inclusion by removing barriers to accessing banking services and enhancing financial independence within the community. The success of the program was a testament to the dedication and commitment of all involved – faculty members, students, volunteers, and community partners—who generously shared their time and expertise to empower Kudumbasree members. Their collaborative efforts ensured the program's effectiveness in imparting valuable skills and knowledge that contribute to socio-economic development. Looking forward, initiatives like the Internet Banking Class serve as models for promoting digital literacy and financial inclusion in underserved communities. They highlight the transformative impact of education in equipping individuals with essential skills to thrive in an increasingly digital and interconnected world.

In conclusion, "Enhancing Financial Skills: Internet Banking Class for Kudumbasree Members" exemplified the power of education and community engagement in fostering financial empowerment. Through the collaborative efforts of Commerce, NSS, IQAC, and dedicated participants, the initiative not only enhanced digital banking skills but also promoted financial literacy and independence among Kudumbasree members. It stands as a testament to the potential of education as a catalyst for socio-economic empowerment and inclusive development within communities.

On November 7, 2023, the Commerce department, in collaboration with NSS (National Service Scheme) and IQAC (Internal Quality Assurance Cell), undertook a compassionate initiative known as the "Santhwanam Project: Compassionate Visit to Karunalayam." This program was meticulously designed to foster a profound sense of care and support for the residents of Karunalayam, thereby enhancing their mental and emotional well-being.

Led by Faculty Coordinator Mariya Paul and Student Coordinators Ann Rosa Sander, Omar Farzana Nazeer, and Nihaal Sajeev, the program brought together 25 participants including faculty members, students, and volunteers eager to make a meaningful impact in the lives of the residents.

Karunalayam, chosen as the venue for this compassionate visit, is a haven for individuals who require specialized care and support due to various physical and mental health challenges. The initiative aimed to provide not only companionship but also a source of emotional solace and reassurance to the residents, many of whom may often feel isolated or marginalized.

The program began with a warm welcome and introduction, setting a comforting atmosphere for interactions between volunteers and residents. Participants engaged in a range of activities carefully tailored to cater to the diverse needs and interests of the residents. These activities included storytelling sessions, interactive games, music performances, and art and craft activities, all designed to stimulate creativity, encourage social interaction, and evoke positive emotions.

Beyond planned activities, volunteers spent quality time listening to the residents' stories, sharing conversations, and offering genuine companionship. Such interactions were instrumental in fostering a sense of belonging and reducing feelings of loneliness or isolation among the residents. The compassionate presence of volunteers helped create a supportive environment where residents felt valued, respected, and cared for.

The collaboration between Commerce, NSS, and IQAC exemplified their shared commitment to community service and social responsibility. By pooling their resources and expertise, the organizers ensured a holistic approach to enhancing the well-being of Karunalayam residents, promoting empathy and compassion within society.

The visit not only brought moments of joy and happiness to the residents but also left a lasting impression on the volunteers. Participants gained a newfound appreciation for the importance of empathy and human connection in supporting vulnerable individuals within the community.

Moreover, the program served as a catalyst for personal growth and reflection among volunteers, fostering a deeper understanding of the challenges faced by residents of care facilities like Karunalayam. It inspired participants to become advocates for inclusivity and compassion, promoting a culture of respect and dignity for all individuals, regardless of their circumstances.

The success of the program was a testament to the dedication and compassion of all involved—faculty members, students, volunteers, and staff at Karunalayam—who contributed their time and efforts to create a meaningful and enriching experience for the residents. Their collective impact exemplified the transformative power of kindness and empathy in fostering positive change within communities.

Looking ahead, initiatives like the Santhwanam Project serve as reminders of the profound impact of compassionate outreach and community engagement. They inspire individuals to continue promoting empathy and understanding, cultivating a more compassionate society where every individual is valued and supported.

In conclusion, the 'Santhwanam Project: Compassionate Visit to Karunalayam' exemplified the essence of care and support in enhancing the mental and emotional well-being of vulnerable individuals. Through the collaborative efforts of Commerce, NSS, IQAC, and dedicated participants, the initiative not only brought comfort and companionship to Karunalayam residents but also nurtured a culture of empathy and compassion that extends beyond the program itself. Program	Nourishing the community: Oru Pothi sneham-Meal distribution

Outcome	This initiative alleviated hunger and ensured that vulnerable individuals received essential nourishment, contributing to their physical well-being.
Organized by	NSS Unit 236
In association with	IQAC

On September 18th 2023, NSS Unit No. 236 of RCMAS, initiated one of their projects named "Nourishing the community: Oru Pothi sneham-Meal distribution," with all the NSS volunteers participating. The objective of this project is to distribute wrapped rice to needy people and to provide them with a convenient and easily accessible source of food. Wrapped meal distribution was done in such a way that if I eat one meal and give it to someone else. Through this, our NSS unit aims to make a hard effort to wipe out that one occurrence- a life lost on the roadside due to hunger.

As part of this initiative, on September 18th, 2023, each household began sharing a portion of the food they prepared with others. Dr. Chandralal V S, the Program Officer, Faculty Member Ms. Hitha P S and several other NSS volunteers accompanied the volunteers on their first journey leading this significant project. On that day, the volunteers gathered and brought 20 packets from their homes, distributing them to the impoverished individuals near Thripunithura Railway station. It marked the beginning of a new impactful endeavor, by the grace of God. The second journey began on September 29th, 2023, with another group of NSS volunteers collecting packets of rice from households under the guidance of faculty member Ms. Hitha P S. Even the hostel children remembered their duty as NSS volunteers and purchased rice packets from the shop. Led by NSS volunteer Dhiya Johns, a few volunteers set out to distribute rice packets at the Kakkanad Bus Stand. It was a moment of realization for the NSS volunteers that there's no greater act than feeding the hungry. This initiative now continues every Friday.
